EDUCATOR'S GUIDE

An Educator's Guide has been developed to aid in the presentation and discussion of the New Life in a New Land video series.

The Guide is ideal for use in seminars and short courses on diversity, race and religion. Many organizations and institutions have benefited from the Guide and video series including social workers, journalists, law enforcement personnel, immigration officers, health care workers, faith groups and so on.

A New Life in a New Land video series and Educator's Guide can also be used in schools and post-secondary institutions. It is a valuable supplemental resource for Social Studies, World Issues, World Religions, and Comparative Religions courses. University instructors will find the package useful as a supplemental resource for courses in Religious Studies, Social Sciences, History, and Education.

The guide includes an 'activities' section designed for high school and adult learners.

To receive a complimentary copy of the guide please contact: miloproductionsinc@gmail.com.
