"Although children have always had to learn how to deal with mean behaviour, many adults worry that online media can make this problem worse. Not only do adults fear that cyberbullying can occur away from the watchful eyes of parents and teachers, there is also a concern that media can potentially amplify the negative impacts of youthful mistakes in judgment because it is so easy to copy and repost hurtful comments and so difficult to remove text or images that have gone viral" (Steeves, 2014, p. 1).
